

TERRIFIC STORMS IN THE CENTRAL STATES

Fifteen Houses Wrecked at Dexter, Mo.—Vessel Driven Ashore in Lake Michigan.

Dexter, Mo., Nov. 22.—A tornado struck this town shortly before noon today and demolished 15 houses and wrecked the Stoddard County Fair buildings. Two women and two children were injured.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—The freighter Boston of the Western Transit company after battling all night against the wind and waves on Lake Michigan, was driven onto a sandbar today near Chicago. Life saving crews took the crew of 18 men to shore.

Cincinnati, Nov. 22.—A wind and rain storm approaching tornado proportions swept up the Ohio river this afternoon, doing much damage in this city and its suburbs. The towboat G. W. Dailey of Marietta was sunk. The crew had a narrow escape. Several persons in Cincinnati were injured.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 22.—Wind and rain caused heavy damage between Booneville and Newburg, Ind., today. Ten large barns were demolished, and several horses were killed. The rain was the heaviest in that section in several years.

Hamilton, O., Nov. 22.—A tornado today caused $50,000 damage. Barns and outbuildings were blown down. Roofs were blown off a number of business houses and factories. The wind was accompanied by a heavy rain. One building in which eight men were working was blown several hundred feet. The men suffered only minor injuries.

STILL ASSERTS THAT ASTOR YACHT IS SAFE

New York, Nov. 22.—One of the most persistent searches ever made of the seas, that which is being conducted in an endeavor to ascertain the whereabouts of Col. John Jacob Astor and his yacht Nourmahal, continued unabated today. Col. Astor's friends and relatives have been worried one day by stories of shipwreck and cheered the next by reports that the yacht was safe. The latest and most positive of these reports came from Caracas today, when the captain of the Red D. liner Caracas asserted with certainty that it was the Astor yacht he had seen safely at anchor in San Juan, Porto Rico, November 15, or after the hurricane had passed. He said the yacht appeared to have suffered no damage. Reports from San Domingo today said the Nourmahal had sailed from there November 12 in the face of a hurricane, but W. A. Dobbyn, secretary to Mr. Astor, believes that Col. Astor is too careful a seaman to have left a safe anchorage in the teeth of a storm.

Caracas, Nov. 22.—Guayra, and Capt. Fust was again questioned regarding his statement that he had seen the Nourmahal at San Juan on November 15. He confirmed his earlier declaration that the steamer had found a harbor.

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 22.—Brief wireless communication between Key West and San Juan, Porto Rico, this morning served to complicate rather than to clear the situation surrounding Col. John Jacob Astor's yacht Nourmahal. But, after sifting matters down to night, there is nothing to indicate that the yacht is not safe at San Juan, nor was there November 15, as reported by the steamship Caracas Sunday and confirmed by that vessel's captain again today.

FORTY-TWO BODIES BROUGHT TO THE SURFACE YESTERDAY

At the time of the catastrophe little if any work was being done in this section. Mr. Taylor was impressed with the theory that the men cut off in the second gallery might have found their way into the gallery below, where there is no fire, and ordered its exploration.

In this gallery—the lowest of the mine—there is an "overcast," or an irregular shaft, distinct from the gallery. "If the men who were in this part of the mine thought of the 'overcast' and were able to reach it, they are probably alive now," said Mr. Taylor. "In the gallery proper there is much water, but I hope that it is not so high but that rescuers can make their way through it."

Killed by Blackdamp.
Rescuers who carried up twenty-three bodies today said there was evidence that the men had walled themselves in for several days, but had emerged to seek food and water and had met death in the blackdamp.

At a point beyond where the searchers had gone several declared they could not see the shattered blocking of a pocket where the men had taken refuge. The bodies are scattered along the gallery for many yards. Men who found them believed the victims collapsed from weakness or asphyxiation before going fifty yards toward the entrance.

Some bodies were burned, and it is probable that of the twenty-three not all had been in the pocket. The existence of the refuge was denied by other members of the party.

The tenseness of the nerves of the rescuers is shown by a remarkable incident this afternoon. A man who proved to have been dead many days of scores of bodies was brought to the surface and was rushed to the hospital car. The mistake, however, soon became apparent.

An opening to the third vein, or lowest level of the St. Paul mine, was forced just before midnight tonight. The removal of bodies or the rescue of scores of men to be imprisoned in the vein, will begin before daylight.

Are in Lower Vein.
Tests made late tonight showed the existence of air in the lower vein. Candles were lit on the gallery and the smoke sucked away from the shaft, showing the presence of an air current.

Thousands of gallons of water have been poured into the gallery in the effort to extinguish fires in the level above it. With air and water in abundance in the mine, hope for the rescue of those within is strong.

The opening that has been cleared is a continuation of the main shaft. The shaft proper ends at the second vein, but to the gallery, 167 feet below, a smaller opening extends to which a small cage runs. This cage was attached to the larger cage with a rope and shortly before midnight the effort to bring it to the second level was begun.

That the cage would contain bodies of the dead on its first trip, or be crowded with living, was the expectation of those working to lift it.

Expected to Rush for 'Cage.'
It was asserted that the miners, hearing the moving of the machinery, would hasten to the cage and that its first trip would add as many to the list of rescued as the car would hold.

The recovery of forty-two bodies today was attended by some of the saddest scenes of the disaster. Across the fields, as the first signal of "bodies up" was given stumbled almost 100 women and children who had been driven from the shaft side by the fierce wind and cold. The identification of the bodies was comparatively easy. There was no smoke stains nor burns, and physicians declared that all except a few had died of asphyxiation. Some had torn every vestige of clothing from their bodies in their death agony. Among the first bodies carried out were those of two "trapper boys," neither more than 14 years old.

Fought for Life.
Gross tokens of the futile fight for life made by the men taken up and dead today were found beside the bodies. On the walls of the shaft had been fashioned rude wooden pin-wheels, shaped in the fashion of ventilating fans and intended to bring at least some current of air.

Boards torn from the timbering of the mine had been crudely nailed or tied about the handles of the miners' picks. These the men had turned by hand, standing close to them to get any oxygen stirred by the movement of the improvised fans. Close beside the fans the largest groups of the dead were found. That the men had lived and retained their faculties for many days before the black damp crept upon them was obvious, but physicians declared every man had been dead for at least 48 hours.

Renewed Hope.
An exploring expedition led by State Inspector J. C. Taylor and miners Archie Frew and Miles Doherty, reached the third vein of the St. Paul mine, where 150 men are believed to be imprisoned, tonight. They report that there is little water in the gallery and that the air is good. Hope of rescuing many of the imprisoned miners alive is expressed by the searchers.

One of the exploring party penetrated 40 feet into the lower gallery, which he found about knee deep in water. No sign of life was seen, but no miners' bodies lay near the shaft. This is accepted by the rescuers as proof that the men rallied toward the end of the shaft and they will be found prepared to withstand a long siege of hunger.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS.
People of Salinas, Cal., Rushed into the Streets for Safety.

Salinas, Cal., Nov. 22.—The heaviest earthquake recorded here since the shock of April 18, 1906, was felt in this city at an early hour today. Buildings rocked and creaked for fifteen seconds and people rushed into the streets for safety. So far as has been ascertained, no damage resulted from the shock.

Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 22.—An earthquake was recorded at 7:20:22 o'clock this morning by the seismograph at the observatory of the University of California. The disturbance continued about two minutes, two distinct shocks being indicated.

DAY'S REALTY DEALS REACH THREE-QUARTERS OF A MILLION DOLLARS

States, not excepting those in New York or Philadelphia. "The Godbe-Pitts Drug company has a lease on the other store room which runs for two years yet, but we are in hopes of completing arrangements with the drug store people which will allow us to take a part of this corner room and fit it up as a cigar store in the near future."

Employ Salt Lakers.
"In opening our stores here we shall employ Salt Lake men, who will be under the direction of a resident manager who is acquainted with our methods of doing business."

Mr. Wise declined to give any of the details of the leases which he has taken on the two buildings. He said that no decision regarding the renewal of the leases would be reached until the architects of the company had completed their plans for remodeling the building. The Union Pacific and other Harriman lines, which hold the corner room in the block, are the oldest tenants in the building, having been in that room for 21 years. Oscar Groshell, who has the south store room in the building in Main street, is next in seniority. Next month he will have been a tenant for an even 20 years. The Harriman lines will try to obtain a location near their present offices, although it is settled that they will have to give up the corner room on April 29. Other tenants in the Kenyon hotel are Rich & Sons, clothing; Model barber shop, Bryce Drug company, M. H. Desky, clothing; the Fox Lumber company, Peppers' barber shop and the Mint saloon. It is believed that most of these tenants will be able to gain new leases. Oscar Groshell, agent for the National Cash Register company, will move to his new building at 28 State street as soon as it is completed.

The Kenyon hotel property is owned by the Salsbury company, the corporate name of the O. J. Salsbury estate. The Godbe-Pitts building is owned by Mrs. K. A. Scheid and Mrs. Flora K. Woodruff. Although the long term lease is the common method of acquiring property in the east and middle west, and it is also common in San Francisco, it is a new feature in real estate trade in Salt Lake. The Callaway, Hook & Prindle building, however, is erected on ground leased for fifty years and on terms whereby the building and improvements revert to the owners at the expiration of the lease. It is believed that in the lease of the Kenyon hotel property to the United Cigar Stores company there is a clause whereby the skyscraper to be erected by the company will revert to the owners of the land in 1956 on payment of an appraised valuation of the improvements.

Other Big Deals.
Real estate deals involving business property in Main and First South streets and a flat site in Brigham street, the three transactions involving considerations of more than $100,000, were completed yesterday. The Main street property is that occupied by the Vincent Shoe company with a frontage of 100 feet on Main street and a depth of 135 feet. This was bought by C. C. Roberts for $42,000.

Mr. Roberts sold the property at the corner of Broadway and First South street to the Western Loan & Savings company for $48,000. This property is on the east side of Broadway and includes one-half of the corner building and the ground. With this sale was the transfer of a right of way through Broadway, which was sold to L. H. and J. A. Young, of the Young & Young company.

John L. Stewart sold a lot including Nos. 228 to 232 Brigham street, to Ellen Stewart, for $15,000. There are two large houses at this corner. Mrs. Stewart plans the erection of an apartment building on a part of the lot in the near future. The apartment will probably cost in the neighborhood of $40,000.

Plans for the finest theatre in the entire west are being considered by local capitalists in connection with the Stewart company, and within a few days a decision will be reached as to the location of the new building. The theatre is to be on the northeast corner of Main and Fourth South streets, on the lot just south of the Newport building. Plans for this theatre are now in the hands of a local architect, who will start as soon as the grades have been established by the city engineer. But said that inasmuch as the deal had not been definitely closed he could make no statement regarding them.

Another site that is being considered for the theatre is a lot in East Second South street, between State and East streets, owned by A. Fred Wey and W. J. Halloran. It is certain that this lot will be improved in the near future, and in case the theatre goes to lower Main street, a garage may be erected on the Second South street lot.

For Apartment House.
Plans for the erection of an apartment house on Capitol hill, to cost $100,000, by Mrs. Carrie Moore Gray, wife of Lionel H. Gray, have been completed, and work will start as soon as the grades have been established by the city engineer. The project became known through a petition from Mrs. Gray to the city council asking for the establishment of grades on Hillside avenue and Gray avenue.

Mrs. Gray said last night that the foundation will be put in this fall and everything made ready to start the building early next spring. The apartment building will be erected at the corner of Gray avenue and Hillside avenue. These streets lie between Main and State streets and First North and Second North streets.

Plans for the erection of the $125,000 structure are practically completed, and contemplate one of the largest flat buildings in the city. It will be about six stories high and of the most modern type. This part of Capitol hill is grading up fast, and the erection of the apartment house will add a new impetus to residence building in this part of the city.

STORY OF ALMA BELL.
Killed Joe Armes Because He Failed to Marry Her.

Auburn, Cal., Nov. 22.—Testifying in her own behalf today, Alma Bell, the girl on trial for the murder of Joe Armes, told the story of her relations with Armes, covering a period of two years, and their tragic sequel on June 5 last, when she shot her lover to death because of his refusal to keep an alleged promise to marry her. She said that her engagement with Armes had never been broken, but that he had repeatedly put off the promised marriage ceremony. Finally, a few days before the homicide, he had definitely cast her off, basing his action upon rumors that had reached him, connecting her name with those of other men. The witness denied that she had worn a revolver strapped to her knee or made threats against Armes prior to the tragedy.

MATTER OF EDUCATION.
Monetary Commission Does Not Expect Legislation for Some Time.

Washington, Nov. 22.—After appointing a sub-committee to supervise the publication of its documents, the monetary commission today adjourned for an indefinite period. The sub-committee, of which Senator Aldrich is chairman, will enter immediately upon the work assigned to it. The commission is proceeding on the theory that monetary legislation will be impossible until the country shall have become educated on the subject, and it is hoped the literature will be widely distributed and generally read.

GILBERT AND PERKINS GIVEN OLD JOBS BACK
Washington, Nov. 22.—The suspension of Assistant Superintendent Frank W. Perkins of the United coast and geodetic survey and the reduction of John J. Gilbert, an expert of that office, growing out of charges of irregular administrative methods, was today revoked by Secretary Nagel. The action was taken by Acting Secretary McHarg just before his retirement from office. Secretary Nagel says the penalties exceeded fair measure.

Fashion Plate Beauty

Mrs. Ada Durlacher d'Ollone, formerly the "fashion plate beauty" who thought she married the Marquis de Fauconcourt and found him an impostor, after three days' honeymoon, fled from New York. Her father, a well known Broadway merchant milliner, has also left New York for parts unknown, and the pseudomarriage cannot be traced. On the top of these developments it was discovered that her father was out on bail in a case involving an alleged larceny. Apparently he had raised money upon a sale of goods, and the sale was repudiated.

NATIONAL BANKERS UNDER INDICTMENT

Spokane, Nov. 22.—Three true bills against former officers of the Lewiston National bank were returned today by the United States grand jury at Moscow, Ida. The three men, who were indicted for unlawful methods of keeping accounts and transacting bank business, are Clarence Robnett, former bookkeeper of the bank; William Kottenbach, former president, and George H. Kester. E. K. Chapman, who was cashier of the bank, was not indicted.

MURDERED BY ROBBERS.

Ross, Cal., Nov. 22.—Robert Black, an employee of a local water and power company, was shot twice through the heart by a robber on the main street here at an early hour this morning. After rifling his victim's pockets, the murderer escaped. Black's relatives live in Scotland.

FATAL RAILWAY WRECK.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 22.—Engineer Fred Rogers was crushed and scalded to death, and Fireman J. Nesbitt and Brakeman W. T. Furlong were injured near Warrenton, Ore., today when a fast westbound freight on the Oregon Railroad & Navigation line ran into a washout.

PLANS FOR MERGER NOT AFFECTED BY DECISION

New York, Nov. 22.—The interests identified with the plan to bring about a merger of the large copper properties made it known today that the decision of the federal court in the Standard Oil cases would not delay the progress of the merger. The statement was made that the combination is being brought about to strengthen the industry and encourage competition rather than discourage it.

POSTOFFICE ROBBED.

Broomfield, Colo., Nov. 22.—Two masked men blew open the safe in the Broomfield postoffice this morning and obtained several hundred dollars, then escaped.
